About the Program

NJCIC's Immigrant Youth Advocates is a leadership development and narrative change program for first- and second-generation immigrant youth. It's an invitation to engage in conversations and explore the intricacies of the immigrant youth experience in a safe space.

Tell Me More!

The Immigrant Youth work includes:

- Migrants with Migraines: A youth-led podcast
- Social media: Engage in social media advocacy and education
- Workshops: Enhance skills in the political processes and policy frameworks
- Policy Advocacy: Advocating for education, access to justice, and health equity

Applicant Eligibility

- 1st (foreign born) or 2nd generation (parent/s is an immigrant)
- Current New Jersey resident
- Age between 18-24
- Ability to participate at least one in person meeting per semester
- Commit to participate in at least two consecutive semesters
